Job Title: Elementary Teacher, grades 3-5

Classification: Full Time, Exempt
Reports to: Head of Lower School

About The Adelson School:

The Dr. Miriam and Sheldon G. Adelson Educational Institute (The Adelson School) is dedicated to inspiring and educating the next generation of students by drawing strength from a rich Jewish heritage. As the only PK-12 Jewish community school in Nevada, the Adelson School provides a unique educational experience that fosters academic excellence, respect for all, and a deep connection to Jewish values and community.

Our faculty create a supportive and challenging environment where each student's intellect and character are nurtured, and where the core values of respect, understanding, community, and academic excellence are integral to daily learning.

Position Summary:

The Adelson School is seeking a full-time teacher for grades 3-5 for the 2026-2027 school year. The successful candidate will be responsible for facilitating academic learning through the implementation of a dynamic curriculum. This teacher will design and deliver lessons to both whole and small groups, addressing individual student needs and creating a welcoming, safe environment where students feel encouraged to take intellectual risks. Collaboration with grade-level partners, specialists, and the administration will be essential in fostering student growth.

The ideal candidate will be passionate about working with young learners, possess strong communication and organizational skills, and demonstrate a commitment to academic excellence and social-emotional development.

Key Responsibilities:

- Instruction: Plan and implement high-quality instruction in Reading, Writing, Math, and Social Studies, tailored to diverse learning styles and abilities.
- Classroom Management: Exhibit strong classroom management skills, creating a nurturing and productive learning environment.
- Student Engagement: Foster a love of learning, independence, and personal responsibility while meeting the developmental and academic needs of students.
- Assessment: Utilize both formal and informal assessments to monitor progress, adjust instruction, and identify areas for growth.
- Collaboration: Build positive relationships with students, parents, and colleagues. Communicate regularly with parents about academic progress, goals, and character development.
- Professional Development: Reflect on teaching practice, pursue professional growth opportunities, and remain open to feedback.
- Technology Integration: Use technology meaningfully to enhance student learning, focusing on creation and collaboration.

- Teamwork: Collaborate with support staff and grade-level teams to create optimal learning environments for all students.

Qualifications:

- Education: Bachelor's degree in Elementary Education or a related field required. A Master's degree is preferred.
- Experience: Teaching experience in an elementary school setting is required. Experience with differentiated instruction is essential.
- Certifications: Nevada teaching certification is strongly preferred.
- Skills & Knowledge:
  - Strong understanding of developmental stages and learning needs of early elementary students.
  - Experience integrating technology into the classroom.
  - Respect for and engagement with Jewish culture and traditions, whether through prior experience or a readiness to learn and participate in a Jewish day school setting.
  - Familiarity with Responsive Classroom.
- Personal Qualities: Ability to work collaboratively, demonstrate creativity, and maintain strong organizational skills. A positive attitude and a strong work ethic are essential.

Physical Requirements:

- Ability to perform duties that may include standing, walking, stooping, kneeling, crouching, and crawling as needed.

Application Process:

Candidates should submit a cover letter, resume, and contact information for at least three (3) references. Please combine all documents into a single PDF and email to jobs@theadelsonschool.org.
