THE HISTORY AND EVOLUTION OF THE EITC PROGRAM

The Educational Improvement Tax Credit (EITC) program has been making a meaningful impact on students and participating organizations since its launch!

Administered by the Pennsylvania Department of Community and Economic Development (DCED), this program supports educational opportunities through state-approved tax credits.

When the program began in 2001, its budget was capped at $30 million. Thanks to consistent growth and legislative support, the program's total funding has since expanded significantly, now reaching over $600 million in combined credits.

The EITC is included in the state budget, which is approved annually by the governor, the House, and the Senate. It's important to highlight that EITC has a separate line of funding and does not take away resources from other state-funded programs, including public education.

All contributions made through the EITC program must be used exclusively for financial aid and scholarships. Simply put, the more your school participates in the program, the more scholarship opportunities become available to families in your community!
